Woman War Worker Offers Defense Of Flapper; She Needs Mission In Life, Is Claim

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB HEARS LECTURE, 'DAWN OF TOMORROW'

Mrs. Basil Clarke Tells of Her Experiences Abroad; Report on Financial Matters

By KATHERINE VIRGINIA SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff

"We can depend on the flapper. She is what we made her. She was the little girl in the nursery during the war and with our minds occupied by other things we forgot to set any standards for her and she got too precocious. She's all right even if she does paint her lips and bob her hair. All we need to do is take her and point out her mission in life and she will respond eagerly."

Such was the defense of the most modern form of femininity offered yesterday afternoon at the Tuesday Afternoon Club meeting by Mrs. Basil Clarke, lecturer and traveler, in her plea for concerted action among women of the world for permanent peace.

A vivacious personality, poise and talent as a public speaker and a wealth of experience in affairs at home and abroad fit Mrs. Clarke admirably for a club speaker and not once during her address yesterday did the interest and enthusiasm of her hearers lag.

"The Dawn of Tomorrow" was the subject introducing Mrs. Clarke to the club women and as a background for her inspiring plea for peace she gave sketches of her experiences abroad both in pre-war days and after the signing of the armistice.

Pictures Tragedies
Mrs. Clarke's two sons were with Herbert Hoover in American relief in Belgium in 1914 and she lived with them in Brussels until that year. After remaining in the United States for four years she returned to foreign parts in 1920. Her knowledge of conditions before the war and of the price paid by the men, women and children for the years of strife was gained all at first hand and she pictured the tragedies of war graphically, ending with the assurance, "And I know what Sherman said is more than true, for war is hell."

It was not until her return abroad in 1920 that Mrs. Clarke first felt that peace would dawn with the morrow.

"It was in a great Episcopal cathedral in England that I had the vision of peace," said Mrs. Clarke. "The address I heard was on peace and as I sat and listened and later pondered over it I realized the extreme days."

Glendale Rainfall Is .18 Inch in 24 Hours
After several weeks of spring-like weather Southern California is receiving the long-delayed winter showers and according to H. E. Bartlett, weather man of 333 West Broadway, Glendale has been damped in the last twenty-four hours by .18 of an inch of rain.

This brings the seasonal figures up to 5.88 inches. In comparing this seasonal figure with the seasonal report of 15.78 a year ago today the unanimous opinion is with the "old timers" who say we need more rain.

May Refuse License
It provides a signal for a distance of fifty feet before stopping, and extends the time for registration of non-residents from twenty-four hours to five days.

Under its provisions the motor vehicle department may refuse to issue licenses to persons suffering from epilepsy or paralysis or from defective hearing or eyesight or lack of both hands or feet or control over the extremities.

The present horse-power tax will remain under the provisions of the bill until January 31, 1924, when it will be replaced by a $2 fee with the horse-power tax abolished.

Another bill is in preparation which will provide gasoline tax, limit weights upon the roads and contain other provisions for the preservation of the state highways.

Club Women Indorse Mrs. Charles H. Toll
Glendale club women are anxious to have one of their number serve as president of the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's clubs, and to that end Mrs. Charles Hubert Toll of 1635 Kenneth road, was indorsed yesterday by the Tuesday Afternoon Club for that position. The election is to take place at the annual convention in April at San Luis Obispo.

Although as many as seven prominent club women have been mentioned for this office, Mrs. Toll is the first to be indorsed.

Mrs. Toll organized the Glendale Mutual Benefit Reading circle, has been a member of the city school board, and is a past president of the Los Angeles Ebell club.

FAVOR HUGE CREDIT
WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The senate agricultural committee today ordered a favorable report to the senate on the Norbeck bill to establish a $250,000,000 credit for foreign purchasers of American farm products.

Tuesday Afternoon Club Members Get Report On Finance Matters

THE business ability of the executives of the Tuesday Afternoon Club is well reflected in the report on finances pertaining to the new club house, given at the club meeting yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Daniel Campbell, club president.

Mrs. Campbell's report was passed with the inspiring prediction that through concerted and continued work to augment the building fund the club women will soon be housed in a home that is free from debt. Emphasizing that this can only be accomplished by untiring effort on the part of every club member, Mrs. Campbell said, "It is the unanimous decision of your directors that the club will not borrow further funds at this time."

The approximate cost of the new club home at Central avenue and Lexington drive is $882,000. Of this amount $223,000 is in hand, and $500,000 has been borrowed from one source and $10,000 borrowed from ten prominent Glendaleans.

The club has received from seventy life memberships $7,000; from 90 memberships $900; from payments on 300 auditorium chairs at $5 a piece, $1,500; making a total of $9,400.

From this expenditures must be made of $3547.95 for auditorium chairs; $750 for 375 folding chairs; $200 for 38 banquet tables; making a total of $4497.95.

It is now the problem of the chairman of the furnishings committee, the club officers and members to completely furnish the club house from the remaining $4900.

FINANCIAL REPORT BY SCHOOL BOARD

Grammar System Officials Get Statement; Exclusion Policy for Outsiders

More than $246,128 has been expended for the local grammar school system between June 1, 1922 and January 23, 1923, according to the financial statement submitted last night to the grammar school board of education.

The largest single item during this period was $134,942 for the construction and maintenance of school buildings. Teachers' salaries, which totalled $82,648, comprised the second largest item. The expense of operating the various kindergartens amounted to $7458. The unpaid balance of the budget is $68,242.

Plans Exclusion
A definite policy of excluding all children living outside the district from the local school system next term was formulated last night by the board of education.

Bids were accepted from the Potter Radiator company of Los Angeles to install four radiators in the west wing of the Central avenue school for $440. The board decided to abandon the unsatisfactory furnace which was supposed to heat this portion of the building.

Two radiators were ordered from the Hamilton Radiator company of Los Angeles for $148.50 each. One will be placed in the proposed bungalow on the Broadway school grounds and the other will be placed in the new bungalow to be built on the Glendale avenue intermediate school grounds.

Four New Teachers
The Fox-Woodsum Lumber company was instructed to furnish $320 worth of lumber to the school system.

Four new teachers were appointed for next term as follows: Mrs. Lucy M. Park, 432 West Maple avenue; Miss Pauline Wigginton, Los Angeles; Mrs. Margaret M. Struble, 120 North Orange street, and Mrs. Sarah D. Van Hise, 451 Ivy street.

Superintendent Richardson D. White was instructed to take whatever action is necessary to expedite the calling of the authorized bond election.

Mrs. Kendrick alleged Mrs. Wakefield had alienated her husband's affection and had offered her $100 a month for life for her love. Mrs. Wakefield denied the charges and the case had been set for trial today. Mrs. Kendrick is dead, a victim of Bright's disease.

Lone Bandit Holds Up Three Filling Stations
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 24.—Three Standard Oil filling stations all within a radius of a mile, were held up in quick succession today by a lone bandit who secured a total of $100 in cash from the attendants.

The bandit's first stop was at the Sixth and San Pedro street station, where he got $30. He then hurried to Fourth and San Pedro streets, and then pulled his last "job" at Second and Central avenue.

In each case the description and the method of operation of the bandit was the same.

Harding Confined to Home by Snowstorm
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 24.—Inclement weather held President Harding close to his study again today. An all night snow which turned into rain caused continued postponement of all engagements and, upon the advice of Dr. Sawyer, his physician, again the president was allowed to return to his desk in the executive offices.

Practically all trace of the grip, which has confined the president to his room for over a week, has now gone.

STANLEY JOHNS IS HOSPITAL JANITOR

Discovers Lost Radium Tube

George "Sonny" Richardson, the good-natured negro janitor of the Glendale research hospital, reported for duty this morning with more than his customary pleasant smile. Upon questioning it was found that, as Richardson expressed it, "This 'aint' no bluff—it's a genuine $150 smile."

Incidentally, the jovial porter is just $150 ahead today as a reward for his uncanny exploring ability in locating a fifty milligram tube of radium which had been lost by attendants of the institution. Here is the story of the history of the minute parcel, which is valued by its owner, Dr. Robert D. Emery, Los Angeles surgeon, at $3500.

Misplaces Radium
Several days ago Dr. Emery, working with Dr. Edward T. Abbott of this city, administered a radium treatment upon Mrs. Olive Crozier, 511 East Avenue 43, Los Angeles, following which the tube of the rare element was mislaid. A thorough search of the entire building was fruitless, and Dr. Emery offered a reward of $150 for the recovery of the capsule.

It was then that "Sonny" got busy. After presenting everything from a piece of glass test tube to a broken haemostat, he untiringly searched the ashes of the hospital's incinerator for the lost time, finally locating the tube, which closely resembled a charred stick of wood. Dr. Abbott immediately recognized the specimen, and the proud "discoverer" was given his reward.

No Damage Results
Upon examination it was found that no damage had been done, although the tube had withstood several blazes. The outer covering of rubber had, naturally, burned off, but the remaining layers of lead, brass, silver and glass were intact.

And so that's how George, the janitor, got his radium smile and the $150.

Finds Twenty Pearls In Oysters Bought At Glendale Store!

ISH stories have been a popular form of indoor sport ever since the whale gulped down Jonah, but oyster tales haven't been such common occurrences in the world's collection of "sea food" yarns.

Glendale claims the most recent oyster tale, told by H. G. Hosford of 233 North Central avenue, about finding twenty pearls in one of the dozen of eastern oysters he purchased last night at J. Herbert Smith's Grocery on North Brand boulevard.

As "Exhibit A" in the case Mr. Hosford has left the pearls at The Glendale Evening News office. The pearls which range in size from a small pea to the head of a common pin, were spoiled in cooking.

The largest one shows signs of being of the black pearl variety and while of no great value would have been a pretty pearl had it not been exposed to the heat of cooking.

BULLETIN

FATHERS PRESENT BENEFIT PROGRAM

Broadway School Scene of Excellent Entertainment Attended by Crowd

About 250 people enjoyed the fine program at the Broadway school last night, given by the fathers as part of a campaign to raise funds with which to obtain curtains for the school stage.

The program, which was in charge of Vice President James E. Hibbert, was opened by Mayor Spencer Robinson, who sang "An Irish Love Song" and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms." Mrs. Robinson accompanied her husband on the piano.

The next number was a recitation, "Lascia," by Mrs. Lydia Rehberg. Miss Vera Schlottbauer and Mr. Reid then rendered two vocal duets, "Absent" and "Lonesome—That's All."

Varied Program
Harry James, monologist, rattled off one of his droll sketches. Oliver Gaboury, of the Atelier des Arts, danced graceful waltz, clop and soft shoe numbers and Miss Joy Lietch, one of his teachers, gave a lovely Grecian dance. These two artists were accompanied on the piano by Miss F. J. Willet. Miss Adeline Woodbury, a Gaboury pupil, then did a charming toe dance, followed by a delicate pantomime, with Miss Pansy Cort at the piano.

Vern Isom, of Burbank, rendered on the violin "Barcarole" from the "Tales of Hoffman," Dvorak's "Humoresque," and as an encore, "Serenade." Mr. Isom was accompanied on the piano by Miss Helen Constance Morgan. The violin he used was made in Glendale, by D. W. Anderson.

Gives Short Talk
The musical program was followed by a short talk by R. M. Ferguson, arguing the men of the district to join the fathers of Broadway P. T. A. and get behind the worth-while movements they are initiating to better the school.

Mr. Ferguson called attention to a "salvage sale" coming in February, at which a complete canvass and collection of newspapers will be made, and these papers sold to obtain further money for the curtain fund.

George Karr then talked for ten minutes on Community Service, after which three community "get acquainted" games were put on by Mrs. Mae Rosenberg, Mrs. Charles Larson and Mrs. MacDowell. The latter president of the Community Recreation workers. Mrs. Spencer Robinson played the music for these games.

Serve Refreshments
Refreshments were then served by the men, cafeteria style, in the sloyd room of the manual arts department, followed by a social time that completed an evening of rare pleasure and promise.

As a result of last night's effort on the part of the Broadway fathers, over $60 was cleared toward the curtain fund, states William R. Wichert, secretary-treasurer of the organization.

President W. C. Wyckoff, when presented with this report, expressed himself as very well pleased with the result of this effort and confident that the fathers of this school, now well launched, are going to become a very helpful factor in the advancement of school and district interests.

Urge New Thoroughfare To Relieve Traffic Congestion

LINK UP SAN FERNANDO ROAD AND YORK BOULEVARD, IS PLEA

Glendale Chamber of Commerce Directors Take Proposition Under Consideration

OPENING of a connecting link between York boulevard and San Fernando road was discussed at the regular weekly luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, when representatives of the Greater Highland Park association met with the directors to ask for the support of the local organization in their efforts to have a new stretch of road built to connect the two traffic arteries. The proposed link would run from the present termination of Adams street to meet York boulevard at Verdugo road.

Harry H. Frank, president of the Greater Highland Park association, outlined the general aspects of the plan before turning over the more detailed explanation to I. C. Ash, another director of the association, who showed, on a map, just where the new road would run and the manner in which it would link up with Sunset and Santa Monica boulevards and take in the entire San Gabriel valley, offering a new thoroughfare that would permit automobile traffic to avoid the congested highways leading into Los Angeles and that would afford a route to the coast that would relieve so much of the present congestion.

Approves of Plan

The plan adopted by the Highland Park association, Mr. Ash stated, has already been approved by the planning commission of the city of Los Angeles as a practical one and as meeting an insistent demand for more traffic arteries, and he urged that the Glendale Chamber of Commerce lend its moral support to the project.

Lon Haddock, president of the Haddock, Nibley Real Estate company, advocated the building of the proposed extension, declaring that it would be of material benefit to Glendale in relieving the conditions that are now delaying motorists so markedly over the present roads.

Carl Bush, secretary of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, spoke briefly in support of the plan.

Committee Inquiry

President Jesse E. Smith of the Chamber of Commerce agreed to appoint a committee to investigate the proposition and report at the next meeting of the directors, and in the event that the report of the committee is favorable to the support of the Chamber of Commerce will be given freely.

A communication was received from the Exchange club asking that the Chamber of Commerce co-operate in the effort to secure a tract of land at the Glendale Sanitarium on East Broadway for a civic center, and the immediate consideration of the project was urged by the Exchange club, whose letter stated that some action would have to be taken at once as plans are now under way, in the event that the civic center plan does not materialize, to subdivide the land in question.

Needs Bond Issue

The letter stated that a bond issue of $250,000 to $300,000 would be necessary to purchase the land and carry out the proposed plan for the creation of a civic center, and it was urged that the co-operation of all civic bodies be enlisted to aid the accomplishment of the plans.

Opposition to the plan developed when it was stated by C. D. Lusby that the site mentioned in the letter from the Exchange club would prove too small for the erection of a civic center that would be sufficient to meet the needs of Glendale at its present rate of growth, and Mr. Lusby also declared that two blocks in the same place could have been secured under option two years ago for $85,000, and he advocated the acquisition of a cheaper site if the plan is to be carried out.

No Action Results

R. F. Kitterman also opposed the plan on the ground that a bond issue for $500,000 is shortly to be voted on, for the extension of the Glendale school system, and he insisted that the injection of another bond issue into the life of the city at this time would inevitably result in its defeat, and might also mean the defeat of the school bond issue, whose passage he declared, is an imperative matter at this time if the schools are to meet the demands that are being made on them.

The letter from the Exchange club was filed, without any action having been taken on it.

On request of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce a resolution was adopted urging the reapportionment of the legislative districts of the state on the basis

Chamber of Commerce Will Hold Its Annual Meeting And Dinner Tuesday, Feb. 6

THE annual meeting and dinner of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce will be held on the night of Tuesday, February 6, at the assembly room of the organization, according to a decision reached at the weekly luncheon of the directors yesterday.

Secretary James M. Rhoades stated that the annual report would be printed by that date and ready for submission to the members of the Chamber of Commerce.

President Jesse E. Smith declared that the board of directors would be prepared to lay before the members of the organization the plans that have been outlined for the coming year's work, and he expressed the desire that a full attendance of the members be secured for the annual meeting in order that the program of the directors may be given a representative support by as many members as possible.

of the 1920 census, and copies of it will be sent to the representatives of this part of the state in the assembly.

For Float Designer

It was decided that the fund that has been collected for L. W. Chohe, designer of the Glendale float that won first prize at the Pasadena tournament of roses, should be presented to him by Mayor Spencer Robinson at the next meeting of the City Council on Thursday night. The fund now amounts to $284.50, according to figures submitted at the meeting yesterday, and, in addition to this sum, it is also understood that the city officials also intend to recognize in some material fashion the distinction that has come to Glendale through the genius of Mr. Chohe.

Harry L. Leavitt, who has been in communication with the Chamber of Commerce with reference to staging a Pageant of Progress here in May, will meet tonight with representatives of the organization to go fully into the details of the pageant, and on the result of this conference will hinge the decision of the Chamber of Commerce as to holding the pageant.

An executive session of the directors was held after the luncheon.

CHEVROLET SALES FIGURES REACH NEW RECORDS

One Day's Shipments From American Plants Total 2158 Autos

"The slogan, 'Count the Chevrolests,' is getting to be a real job when put into practice," says Mr. McCrary, manager of the Holly Motor Sales, Inc., Eagle Rock branch.

"The increasing demand for light cars of quality has made the sales of Chevrolests throughout the country run into tremendous figures."

"I am just in receipt of telegrams from the Chevrolet Motor company stating that on Friday, January 19, they shipped from their various assembling plants, not including the Canadian plant, 2158 cars. This is the result of the unprecedented winter business, partly due to the popularity of the enclosed cars."

May Install Sprinkler System on City Lawn

Earl A. Northland was before the city trustees of Eagle Rock at the last meeting endeavoring to interest them in a sprinkling system he wished to install on the city hall lawn. He said he used an underground system and would guarantee satisfaction. He estimated it would cost about $350 to install the system.

The matter was gone into quite thoroughly by the trustees and finally turned over to the city engineer and city clerk for investigation.

POLICE TO HALT TIRE THEFTS FROM AUTOMOBILES

Series of Daring Robberies Reported by Residents Of Eagle Rock

From this time on it is going to be a hard matter for auto accessory thieves to ply their vocation in Eagle Rock, according to Claude Bramble, chief of police of Eagle Rock. Reports of several times having been removed from cars during the big Townsville dance last week have caused the chief of police to make preparations to see that vehicles will be watched closely while any such public gathering is taking place in Eagle Rock in the future.

Eagle Rock has been singularly free from the activities of these marauders in the past, say members of the police department, but on the night in question they made up for lost time, according to reports of losses handed in to the department.

Among those who reported losses were C. J. Squires and Trustee Taylor. Mr. Taylor said the thief or thieves evidently used a heavy pair of steel cutters, as the Yale lock holding his spare tire had been clipped off slick and clean.

ASKS PERMIT TO IMPROVE EAGLE ROCK STREET

Property Owners Advised to Submit Petition at Board Meeting

R. L. Woodhouse, of 812 East Colorado boulevard, appeared before the City Trustees of Eagle Rock Monday night and asked that he and others interested in property affected be given the opportunity to do certain improvement work on the property on Hill avenue on the same terms that had been granted A. S. Johnson at a previous meeting.

Mr. Woodhouse said that he and others had been opposed to the street in question being opened, but as the trustees had seen fit to grant the privilege to Mr. Johnson, he and the others were in favor now of its being done. The property in question lies on Hill avenue from Colorado west to the Dahlia Heights tract.

Mr. Woodhouse was advised to have a petition ready and present it at the next meeting of the board. He said that Mr. Stimpson, who was an interested property owner, was at the present time in Seattle, but he would endeavor to secure his signature.

ized that peace would be brought through the power of women."

Tribute to Leaders

During her address Mrs. Clarke paid high tribute to Susan B. Anthony, "Elizabeth the Good of Belgium," Lady Astor, Edith Cavell and other women of the world who have taken parts in the march of civilization.

The speaker received hearty applause when she expressed forcibly the desire to see the Bible placed in the schools of California.

"What we need is tolerance," said Mrs. Clarke. "We should strive for peace for the conservation of life and with this for our goal the dawn of tomorrow that Susan B. Anthony saw long years ago will be bright with the light of peace."

Hear Scout Leader

As is customary the regular club session occurred before the speaker of the afternoon was presented. Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president, presided, and Mrs. H. E. Bartlett served as secretary in the absence of Mrs. John C. Dunn. It was during the club session that Mrs. Campbell accorded the privilege of speaking to D. W. Pollard, special representative of the Twelfth Region, Boy Scouts of America. Mr. Pollard spoke of Scout work with a view to interesting the club women and their families in the development campaign for the Verdugo Hills District Council.

Of particular interest to the members was the brief report on the club building fund and affairs given by Mrs. Campbell. The new club home is to cost approximately $83,000. Of this amount $23,000 is in the hands of the club, while it was necessary to borrow $50,000 from one source and $10,000 from others.

"After careful consideration," said Mrs. Campbell, "the board of directors have decided that the club is not to borrow additional funds, but rather to keep up overhead expenses and furnish the club house with the money available."

Financial Matters

According to her report from the seventy-life membership purchased $7,000 was received; from ninety new members $900 was received; from the purchase of 300 chairs in the new auditorium $1500 was received; making a total of $9,400.

From this amount it is necessary to spend $3,547.95 for expenses of the auditorium; and $750 for 375 folding chairs; and $200 for thirty-eight banquet tables; leaving approximately $4900 for purchasing furnishings for all the rooms in the club house.

In further report on the new clubhouse, Mrs. Campbell announced that the directors had unanimously agreed to purchase an upright piano with the $400 received last week from Walter R. Simons of Los Angeles.

Other gifts mentioned by Mrs. Campbell were, a president's chair to be given Mrs. M. C. Neuman as a memorial to his wife's twin sister, Mrs. Cora Taylor, the first president of the club; a gift of money for purchasing a piece of furniture for the platform, from John Hyde Braly; a Lorain cook stove from Coker & Taylor Hardware company; a punch ladle from Mrs. S. C. Leavelle; a gift of $1000 from Mrs. Frank Ayars as a memorial to her mother, Mrs. Needham; the bowl and $25, anniversary gifts from Mrs. P. W. Parker; two large pieces of tapestry from Mrs. C. M. Turk; A. G. Spohr, chest of silver.

Pledges by Sections

Mrs. Campbell made special mention of the pledges made by the various sections of the club in providing some certain things for the clubhouse. The sections and their pledges are: Literary, dishes; Maids and Young Matrons and Shakespeare, flat silver; Patriotic, Local Relief and Calling Committees, 38 tablecloths and towels; Membership Committee, tea sets; Dramatic stage equipment amounting to $1000; Hospitality Committee, punch bowl and glasses; Arts and Crafts, lamp shades and stand-ards; Legislative, Parliamentary and Bible sections, glasses, sugar bowls, creamers and salt and pepper shakers; Mailing Committee, card table.

An important event of the club session was the hearty adoption of a resolution endorsing the candidacy of Mrs. Charles H. Toll for president of the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's clubs.

In the absence of Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, chairman of the ways and means committee, Mrs. Campbell announced that the rummage sale and auction for the benefit of the club furnishings fund is to be held February 10 at the Jensen Palace Grand shops.

The cooked food sale held under the direction of Mrs. Collin Cable before the meeting added $30 to the new clubhouse fund, and the birthday march added over $5.

Section Meetings

Section announcements were made by Mrs. W. E. Evans, general curator, as follows:

Arts and Crafts Section, Group 2, is to meet January 25 at 9:30 o'clock at Pendroy's store to work on French flowers.

SEWAGE DISPOSAL BUILDING PERMITS

MEET PLANNED BY OFFICIALS

Eagle Rock Trustees to Confer With Representatives Of L. A. Municipalities

Mayor Osborne and Trustees Mattison and Bergsvik of Eagle Rock will attend a meeting at the court house in Los Angeles Saturday, January 24, to confer with officials of other cities suburban to Los Angeles relative to sanitation and disposal of sewage. This was decided at the trustees' meeting Monday night when Mayor Osborne read a communication extending the invitation from J. P. Lippencott of Los Angeles.

The mayor stated that Mr. Lippencott had three methods of propose, anyone of which might be adopted. But he thought it would be best for the cities affected to send representatives and go into the subject with the idea of full co-operation along the lines adopted.

J. A. Mansergh of 216 South Central has recently sold his hardware business to W. L. Dixon of Eagle Rock. Mr. Mansergh will engage in other business in the city.

TAKE DROP IN EAGLE ROCK

City Officials Place Blame For Slump on Rains of Past Week

Building permits in Eagle Rock took a decided slump this week, due to the rainy weather, say officials at the clerk's office. Those issued have been of a minor nature, chiefly garages and one-room additions. Those issued Tuesday were:

H. Boekner of 128 West Ridgway, a permit for a $200 garage, and for a summer cottage at 500 Stanley avenue, $300.

Alto H. Pfeifle of Artesian Park Heights, 121 West Ridgway, a four-room cottage for $1000.

G. H. Hopkins of Hartwick Heights, a one-room addition at a cost of $250.

J. W. Stevens, 227 Stanley avenue, garage, $200.

Frank Welch of 303 West Adams, Shallet Terrace, five-room cottage, $2800.

C. Bone, 326 East Sycamore, room in the rear, $100.

Mrs. E. H. Eberhart of 355 East Hill avenue, mother of Mrs. A. Putnam, will spend several weeks at Redondo Beach, having gone the latter part of the week.

SOLONS PLAY IN TRUCKEE SNOWS

Lure of High Sierras Draws Southern Legislators to Winter Resort

By GIL A. COWAN
Special to The Evening News
SACRAMENTO, Jan. 24.—While five flippant bathers toyed their toes in the icy waters of the Sacramento river at Redding Sunday, there were a group of Southern legislators and lobbyists at Truckee who had no desire to don swimming suits.

With one exception—a poor woman who was hampered with skirts—the crowd at the winterland resort in the hills back of here were outfitted in sport clothes, for no impediments to agility are wanted when it comes to keeping one's ski bound feet from tangling with the nether limbs.

Ray Eberhard of Highland Park, a legal light with the city of Los Angeles, acted as my official observer and his opinions of snow sports are herewith recorded.

Riding on a sled over the mountain crests is like riding in a Ford over a desert. Having done both, Ray is qualified, we'd say. And he saw six girls from the Bay District literally "ruined" in nasty spills when their toboggans and sleds overturned.

Carried Her Home
"I helped carry the last one hurt Sunday to the hotel at Truckee and believe me, boy, she was dead weight after the sled on which she was riding hit a rut and pitched her escort and herself head over heels into a snow bank."

So many were injured on the new toboggan Sunday that it was closed down, but there was plenty of other thrills. An airplane without wings is in service, skidding along over the three or more feet of snow on the hillsides at sixty miles an hour.

There were a few skaters and some who had skates on, but the majority of folks tried their feet at skiing, much to their disappointment. It is the most strenuous exercise and keeps one warm while the temperature plays around the zero mark.

Truckee is a little mountain resort 5820 feet up in the Sierras and near the scene where the Donner party died in the early days when they were snowed in for the winter on the overland trail.

Shoot Snow Scenes
Three motion picture companies from Los Angeles arrived at Truckee the first of the week and are filming snow scenes. Scattered around the hillsides are "mounted police huts" and other indications that the photo-players have been more than active in "shooting" another sector of California's kaleidoscopic climate.

One cannot help but wonder at the pleasant weather enjoyed in the valleys when the mountain regions of the Golden state are literally snowbound. While Switzerland is more compact, California offers a variety that no other part of the world can claim.

A heavy rain in the north today is packing more snow on the hillsides and more of the solons are expected to see Truckee this coming week end.

Spring Valley Murder Case to Be Re-opened

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 24.—An old murder mystery was revived today when Sheriff Byrnes announced the re-opening of the Spring Valley funeral pyre case of 1921.

On the night of April 28, that year, an isolated farmer observed a fire in a deserted valley. He investigated and found a human body being incinerated upon a pile of kerosene-soaked boards above an abandoned well.

The charred body was dragged from the pyre just in time to prevent it from falling into the well as the fire burned itself out. Buckshot wounds were discernible.

Subsequently a Finchburg, Mass., woman wrote that she might aid in finding the murderer and hoped for a reward. She declared she had heard a woman tell of killing her husband under circumstances similar to those surrounding the pyre case. Investigation developed the fact that the informant herself might be connected with the killing.

PLAN TO REDUCE INSURANCE COST

Committee Would Establish State Agency to Insure School Buildings

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 24.—Recommendation that a constitutional amendment be submitted to the electors authorizing the legislature to establish a state agency for the insurance of public school buildings and other state and municipal property, will be made to the legislature by the joint committee on school legislation.

Two-thirds of the cost of insuring California school buildings would be eliminated by such an agency, according to Mark Keppel of Los Angeles, chairman of the committee. The cost of insuring public schools in the state last year totaled in excess of $1,500,000.

Urge Salary Raise

The committee will also recommend that the salary of the state superintendent of public instruction be made equal to that of the chief justice of the state supreme court. This would raise the state superintendent's salary from $5,000 to $7,500.

The school committee is composed of high school principals, county and city superintendents of schools and representatives of the California Teachers' association. The committee members are: Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey, Los Angeles; Fred M. Hunter, Oakland; George C. Bush, South Pasadena; A. G. Elmore, Stanislaus county; S. M. Chaney, Glenn county; Bruce Painter, Petaluma; L. P. Ferris, Marysville; Angel S. Williams, Stockton; E. M. Cox, Oakland; Arthur H. Chamberlin, San Francisco.

Campaign Fund Probe Launched by Senators

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 24.—The senate investigation into the campaign expenses of the organizations that fought for or against the various measures on the last ballot was gotten under way here when the committee headed by Senator Herbert C. Jones held its first session, fixed a schedule of dates and sent out its first batch of summonses to witnesses.

The committee hearings into the campaign expenses on all direct legislative measures before the people at the last election will begin this afternoon when the wets and dries who fought on opposite sides over the Wright prohibition enforcement act must bare their campaign expense books.

Governor Refuses to Assume Kingly Power

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 24.—Governor Friend W. Richardson today announced he would issue only such proclamations in the future as required by law.

A statement issued at the governor's office stated that "the idea of making such proclamations is repugnant to his Quaker principles and seems to him to be an assumption of kingly power."

REACH DECISION TO WIDEN STREET

Improvement of Forest Ave. Planned at Conference Of City Officials

Forest avenue is to be widened immediately. Decision to accomplish this improvement was reached yesterday at a special conference in the city hall.

Forest avenue is the shortest connecting street between Glendale avenue and Brand boulevard. For this reason it is used extensively by motorists passing from one of these thoroughfares to the other. On the north side of this avenue is the Cerritos school grounds; on the south side is the garage of Harry E. White, Inc. Immediately opposite the east end of the street is the entrance to Forest Lawn cemetery.

Under the agreement reached yesterday, Forest avenue is to be widened from thirty-six feet to forty-eight feet by taking six feet from the parkway on either side of the street.

Will Round Corners
All four corners of Forest avenue are to be rounded so that entrance to it will be easy from either Glendale avenue or Brand boulevard. The southwest corner of this street, which adjoins the property of Harry E. White, has already been rounded. Property enough to permit the rounding to the southeast corner was deeded some time ago by Mr. White. The grammar school board of education is donating enough property to permit the rounding of the northeast and northwest corners.

The city of Glendale was represented at yesterday's conference by Mayor Spencer Robinson, City Manager W. H. Reeves, City Engineer Ben F. Dupuy. It was attended also by Harry E. White, J. D. Hibben, president of the grammar school board of education, Hubert L. Eaton of Los Angeles, manager of the Forest Lawn Memorial Park association, and Charles F. Stuart, who brought the necessity for the improvement to the attention of those interested.

Roof of Newspaper Plant Crashes Through Lower Floors in Berlin

BERLIN, Jan. 24.—At least ten persons were killed and sixteen others injured when the roof of the Tagblatt building collapsed today, crashing through all the floors to the cellar.

An additional story had been built upon the original four floor structure, overloading it. The building contained a number of Mosse publications of which the newspaper Tagblatt was one.

Identify Mint Bandit As Notorious Criminal

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—J. C. Sloane, said to be the leader of the gang of bandits that robbed the federal reserve bank of Denver of nearly $200,000, whose body was subsequently found frozen in a garage in that city has a crime record extending through Central and Southern California, local police declared today.

Sloane was identified as Nick Trainer, arrested here in 1919 on a grand larceny charge and in Los Angeles in 1915 charged with smuggling liquor into the county jail. Other police records on the man include Fresno in 1916, and Stockton.

Identification of Sloane as Trainer came through a novel experiment. Because his fingers were frozen solid, police were obliged to remove the skin from the hands and take impressions of the flesh.

The Glendale

"Hungry Hearts," screened from the great book of New York stories, by Anzia Zezierska, is the fulfillment of a six-year ambition of Helen Ferguson, who plays the leading feminine role opposite Bryant Washburn. For that many years she has wanted to co-star in a picture with that popular male lead. Now that the ambition has been fulfilled, we are all glad.

The result is one of the most human pictures ever filmed, in the estimation of the critics—a story that has advanced the art of the film drama farther than, perhaps, any other single picture ever made. It has done this through an almost miraculous combination of story, direction, characterization and acting.

To miss "Hungry Hearts" would be to have a page torn unread from your diary of worthwhile motion pictures.

The T. D. & L.

Ethel Clayton will be seen at the T. D. & L. theatre today in "The Own Money," a delightful Paramount picture, based on Mark Swan's successful stage play. The story concerns the troubles of a young married couple and has a very novel finish.

"And don't forget that tomorrow (Thursday) the big eight-reel Sidney Franklin preview takes place at the T. D. & L." This spectacle, by the man who made "East is West," is taken from one of the great modern books and enacted by a cast of favorite screen players. Were it permissible to announce the title of this film, the crowds could not be accommodated. "Nuff said!"

Community spirit is increased when you do your buying in Glendale.

Russians Incensed by Bitter German Comedy

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—Paul Morgan, noted German vaudeville comedian, is going round these days puffed up with pride because Soviet Russia has entered into diplomatic relations with him.

Morgan's chief pride used to be that he bore the name of Morgan. But that has been supplanted by the fact that a secretary of the Russian Embassy here recently called on him with a request that he quit telling stories about his alleged experiences with Tchitcherine at Genoa.

Morgan, who holds forth at a local cabaret, has been telling how, while dining with Tchitcherine at Genoa, he missed his watch. He thereupon, according to his tale, informed Tchitcherine, who, excusing himself for a few minutes, entered his secretary's room and emerged with the missing timepiece.

"But he doesn't know I got it," explained Tchitcherine, as quoted by Morgan.

Whereupon the comedian made an expressive gesture that always brought down the house.

The other night a tall, pale, very much excited gentleman called on Morgan behind the scenes and, introducing himself as the secretary of the Russian Embassy here, demanded that this slander on his chief cease.

Morgan calmed him by telling him the story dates back to the days of Noah. And the cabaret press agent having seen the newspapers, the laugh is now on the Russian Embassy.

The MUCKER

by Edgar Rice Burroughs

Copyright 1921 by Edgar Rice Burroughs

Much elated, Billy left the saloon and walked along the street until he came to the one general store of the town. Another heart-rending scrimmage with the language of Ferdinand and Isabella he succeeded in making several purchases—two heavy sacks, a brace, two bits, and a keyhole saw. Placing the tools in one of the sacks he wrapped the whole thing in the second sack and made his way back to the bank building.

Upon the second floor he found the proprietor of the rooming-house and engaged a room in the rear of the building, overlooking the yard. The layout was eminently satisfactory to Captain Byrne and it was with a feeling of great self-satisfaction that he descended and sought a restaurant.

He had been sent by Pestia merely to look over the ground and the defenses of the town, that the outlaw might later ride in with his entire force and loot the bank; but Billy Byrne, out of his past experience in such matters, had evolved a much simpler plan for separating the enemy from his wealth.

Having eaten, Billy returned to his room. It was now dark and the bank closed and unlighted showed that all had left it. Only the sentry paced up and down the sidewalk in front.

Going at once to his room Billy withdrew his tools from their hiding place beneath the mattress, and a moment later was busily engaged in boring holes through the floor at the foot of his bed. For an hour he worked cautiously and quietly, until he had a rough circle of holes enclosing a space about two feet in diameter. Then he laid aside the brace and bit, and took the keyhole saw, with which he patiently sawed through the wood between contiguous holes, until the circle completed, he lifted out a section of the floor leaving an aperture large enough to permit him to squeeze his body through when the time arrived for him to pass into the bank beneath.

While Billy had worked three men had ridden into Culiacan. They were Tony, Benito, and the new bookkeeper of El Orobo Rancho. The Mexicans, after eating, repaired at once to the joys of the cantina; while Bridge sought a room in the building to which his escort directed him. As chance would have it, it was the same building in which Billy labored and the room lay upon the rear side of it overlooking the same yard. But Bridge did not lie awake to inspect his surroundings. For years he had not ridden as many miles as he had during the past two days, so that long unused muscles cried out for rest and relaxation. As a result, Bridge was asleep almost as soon as his head touched the pillow, and so profound was his slumber, and so profound was his slumber, that it seemed that nothing short of a convulsion of nature would arouse him.

As Bridge lay down upon his bed Billy Byrne left his room and descended to the street. The sentry before the bank paid no attention to him, and Billy passed unhindered, to the corral where he had left his horse. Here as he was saddling the animal, he was accosted, much to his disgust, by the proprietor.

In broken English the man expressed surprise that Billy rode out so late at night, and the American thought that he detected something more than curiosity in the other's manner and tone—suspicion of the strange gringo.

It would never do to leave the other fellow in that state of mind, and so Billy leaned close to the other's ears, and with a broad grin and a wink whispered: "Senorita," and jerked his thumb to PARIS, Jan. 24.—For the first time in the history of France admission was charged to visit the national museums during the year just ended. The reports of revenue for the last three months show that Versailles brought in an average of 4,000 francs a day, and the Louvre collected almost as much—3,700 francs each day.

Metal propellers are in great demand since Bossoutrot and Drouhin made their thirty-four-and-a-quarter-hour flight. Their plane was equipped with two metal propellers. Bossoutrot said their excellent pitch had a great deal to do with the length of the flight.

The cost of steel propellers is much less than that of wooden ones. The climate does not affect the steel, and the most important feature is the fact that the pitch of a metal propeller may be adjusted to suit any plane.

WAVEMETERS

Until the recent demand many experimenters did not equip themselves with a wavemeter, owing to the expense, which was often considered unnecessary. However, with the advent of C. W. in amateur circles as a transmitter, a wavemeter was almost essential, and there arose a demand which has been met by some of the best manufacturers with modestly priced instruments.

The illustrated meter is one of them. This wavemeter consists of a variable air condenser in series with a fixed coil located at the upper end of the case. The condenser moving plates are of the logarithmic shape so that the wave length scale is practically uniform. Indications are observed by the brilliancy of a small lamp which is loosely coupled to

RADIO DEVELOPMENT

By LIEUT. JOHN R. IRWIN
U. S. AIR SERVICE (RESERVE)

INDUCTIVELY COUPLED TRANSMISSION

Having developed, as described in the preceding articles, oscillations in the closed oscillatory circuit, these are now transferred to the primary windings of the oscillation transformer, or, as it is also known, the antenna circuit, which we have previously designated as circuit number four. This oscillation transformer is exactly what its name implies, and is a device for transferring (in this case radio frequency current) from one circuit to another, this being done by means of magnetic coupling, just as the low potential alternating current was transferred by means of the power transformer from circuit one to circuit number two. While these radio frequency oscillations are flowing in the oscillation transformer primary they set up magnetic lines of force about it in the manner described in the articles dealing with magnetism and electro-magnetism. These magnetic lines of force cut the secondary windings of the oscillation transformer in circuit number four, inducing therein a current of the same frequency. As these oscillations travel the windings of the secondary or antenna circuit, electrostatic and electromagnetic strains are set up in the surrounding ether and thus these disturbances give rise to the radio waves which are propagated into space at the speed of light, 186,000 miles per second.

They Say That

Disrespect for law is becoming startlingly common. From the example of elders, the young are taking up contempt for statutes and ordinances. They who, in the fulness of adult knowledge and experience, are so reckless of consequences as to set this example of contempt of law, are sowing drag-on's seed, which may, even in their lifetime, rise up and devour them. For the inevitable fruitage of this deriding of laws will be the breeding of criminals.

It is fallacious for any good citizen to proceed on the theory that he can violate or evade one or more laws and ordinances and yet be "chemically pure" as a citizen and entitled to be regarded as law-abiding. The violator of law is a violator of law, and all that differentiates one violator of law from another is the degree of the offense.

The boy who hears his elders swaggeringly boast that they have outwitted the police and violated or evaded a law or ordinance, is imbibing the poison of criminality. The boy or girl who hears sympathy or admiration openly expressed for a murderer is no less influenced, and from such influence may be bred a future murderer.

Another very pernicious influence, chargeable, in some measure, against the screen and the stage, is the caricaturing of policemen. To represent the police—as is so often done in comedies—as num-

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BLUEING

Down came the snow in Woodland, where Uncle Wiggily lived in his hollow stump bungalow with his animal friends.

The white flakes sifted to and fro as though Mother Goose were shaking feathers to make a bed for Little Boy Blue.

"You'll never go out today, Uncle Wiggily," said Nurse Jane, the musty old lady housekeeper, as she looked from the window and saw the snowflakes being piled up in big drifts.

"Of course I'm going out today, Janie, my dear!" cried the bunny rabbit gentleman, with a twinkle of his pink nose. "A day won't it snows in one of the best for having adventures."

"Very well, then," sighed Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "If you will, why you will, and I can't stop you. And as long as you are going out will you get me something from the store?"

"I will do that with pleasure," spoke the bunny rabbit, bowing politely.

"Thank you," said Nurse Jane. "What do you want?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Blueing," answered the muskrat lady. "I want some squares of blue to mix up in the water when I put clothes through for the last time."

"My goodness! Will I have to wear blue shirts and collars?" asked Uncle Wiggily, and he was so excited that his pink nose twinkled backward.

"Don't be silly," laughed Nurse Jane. "I put only a little of the blue color in the rinsing water. It makes the clothes whiter and keeps them from getting yellow."

"Oh, all right," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'll get you the chunks of blueing. I wouldn't want to wear yellow shirts and collars any more than I would want them pink, blue or green."

So Uncle Wiggily put on his rubber boots and his fur coat and out into the snow storm he hopped, to have an adventure, as he hoped, and also to get Nurse Jane's chunks of blueing. And both things happened to the bunny rabbit, as I shall tell you.

All of a sudden, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping along, he heard a voice saying:

"Oh, dear! Oh, dear! I'm stuck and I'll never get out!"

"Oh, no!" said Uncle Wiggily to himself. "If that is the blue Nosed Bahoon or the Skilley Scallery Alligator stuck in the snow they may stick for all of me! I'm not going to have them nibbling my ears."

But when Uncle Wiggily looked a second time he saw that it was Baby Bunty who was stuck in a snow drift.

"Oh, Baby Bunty! You shouldn't have come out in a storm like this!" cried Uncle Wiggily, as he pulled the little rabbit girl from the snow drift.

"Well, you're out in it," said Baby Bunty, laughing a little.

"That's different," spoke Uncle Wiggily. "I had to come out to get Nurse Jane some blueing and have an adventure."

"Well, you've had the adventure by pulling me from the snow!" said Baby Bunty as a cold flake melted on her little pink nose. "And now I come with you while you get the blueing."

"All right," sighed Uncle Wiggily, for he knew there would be trouble. And there was. Baby Bunty's legs were so short that she was always getting stuck in snow drifts, and Uncle Wiggily had to pull her out. But at last they reached the store and bought the blueing.

On the way home through the snow storm, all of a sudden, the Woolly Wolf sprang out from behind a bush and howled.

"I want ears to nibble!"

"Please don't nibble mine or Baby Bunty's!" begged Uncle Wiggily.

"Yes I shall," snarled the skulls and to put a halo about the "bad boy" or "bad man" who outwits the guardians of the law, so the seeds of contempt, in plastic minds, toward the law and those who are its constituted guardians, these depictions of dumb policemen are shamefully unfair, any way—a libel upon men who, as a rule, are keen and alert of mind and notably courageous—men who are ready, day or night, to risk their lives for the protection of the public against desperate criminals.

Everything that tends to bring law or its enforcement into contempt should be avoided as rank poison.

To Abolish Gas!

There can be no peace on earth for a vast multitude of people until they get rid of the evil effects of gas in the stomach and bowels.

Those distressing pains around your heart may be due to gas pressure. That anxious, nervous feeling, often accompanied by heart palpitation, difficult breathing or a smothering sensation, can usually be traced to the same source.

To secure permanent relief you must abolish gas—prevent its formation. This may be done by taking Badmann's Gas Tablets, which act directly upon the set of nerves controlling the digestive function and quickly assist in removing the cause of the trouble.

Badmann's Gas Tablets are perfectly harmless, but wonderfully effective. The first dose will provide their exceptional merit. Get a package today and enjoy some real relief. Genuine Badmann's Gas Tablets come only in the yellow package. Price 31, Sold by Roberts & Echols, J. Badmann, Chemist, San Francisco.—Advertisement.

WORK ON CHURCH MAKES PROGRESS

BEAUTY CHATS

ON MEN'S CLOTHES

When you sit down and think it over, you can't help but feel that men's clothes are much uglier than women's. The lines of a well built man are as beautiful in their way as those of a woman. Many artists think them more so. I know of nothing lovelier in the way of human lines than Maxfield Parrish's picture of the boy in the swing. Schopenhauer rates feminine beauty of body far below man's, and wonders how anyone can call "that short legged, big hipped sex" the beautiful sex.

But when you clothe man's body in the uniform which has been designed for the modern man you extinguish this beauty as completely as if you had had no other end in view in picking out those clothes.

"Gents Wear Pants."

If someone had sat down and said: "I will try to think up a set of garments that will obscure as far as possible all beauty of line, that will be unbecoming to the face, and that will be hot and uncomfortable in summer," could he have done better than the conventional garb for a man, derby or straw hat, high stiff collar, conventional tie, coat, vest (the most unbecoming garment ever designed, I am sure) and long pants. Normally I should use the word trousers instead of that last word. I have always been told not to use it. Mother used to enforce its undesirability by saying: "Gents wear pants." But it seems to me very fitting, because it is as unbecoming as the garment it stands for.

All these must be made of dull colors, and if a man even wears a gay scarf against this neutral background, other men think there is something a little wrong with him.

Knicker Less Ugly

In the last few years there has been, I am happy to say, a trend toward garments not quite so ugly. The knickers, or riding trousers, with golf stockings or puttees are making a slow but steady headway. One sees them now, not only in the country but even in the city as well. And not only on young men but on middle aged and elderly men. In the office of a small country Inn where people go to relax, I noticed that of four men, ranging in age from 30 to 60, three were wearing riding trousers. That would not have been true five years ago. I do not suppose any one doubts that these are ugly, long pants. But if they do, how is this for a testimonial. The sex that does like to have its clothes beautiful never tried to adopt the long pants, but it had plainly shown its covetousness in the matter of knickers.

Soft shirts and the discarding of that horrible garment, the vest, seem to me another step in the right direction. Put a man in a well cut riding trousers and puttees, with a soft shirt, open at the neck, and you get something worth looking at. Many of the soft shirts have had too low a collar. That's an ugly line. The shirt makers are beginning to realize this and correct the defect. I said "with a shirt open at the neck" because I like that better myself, but a good looking shirt with a good looking tie, not too giddy or too colorless, is almost as good.

No Worse Than a Dress Shirt

I can just imagine how some men are going to ridicule this article. "She'll wait us to wear pink and yellow and purple suits next, or a toga," they'll be saying. Well, for dress wear I don't think they would look any worse in something of that sort than they do in a dress suit. And for business and sport wear, of course utility and suitability should be the important consideration in the garments of both sexes.

But, lest the convention lover remind me that beauty is the business of the feminine sex, and that Nature meant it to be that way, and for man to mitigate the ugliness of his attire would be against Nature, may I remind him that Nature apparently did not mean it so, since with the birds and animals she gave the gay colors and bright plumage to the male.

Contractor on Presbyterian Structure is Working a Big Force of Men

The new Presbyterian church on the northwest corner of Harvard and Louise streets is being constructed right up to schedule, according to Robert Bird of Los Angeles, superintendent of construction for Architect Robert H. Orr.

Today eleven bricklayers and nine laborers are under the direction of C. N. Miller of Eagle Rock. Eight carpenters are on the job, also.

Most of the brick work is now "story high" and an indentation can be seen in the east wall into which will fit one of the large stained-glass windows. This will be 20 by 30 feet in size.

Work Being Rushed

The present plan is to finish the Sunday school department on the west side of the building before completing the auditorium. Mr. Bird hopes by the end of another two months to have a roof over this part of the building. As soon as it is under cover, plasterers will commence upon the interior. Four or five months, in his opinion, may see the Sunday school department finished.

Fear lest the work might be delayed pending the arrival of slate for the roofs was expressed by Mr. Bird. He remarked that several carloads of it had been ordered but that they had to come from the east and probably would take ninety days to get deliveries.

TEST RECIPES AT DEPARTMENT HERE

Roundtable Talks to Solve Cooking Problems Are Feature of Course

Recipes that made memories of "Grandma's" cooking, pleasurable, recipes that she handed down to "Mother" and recipes that have long been favorites among relatives and friends are being shared at the culinary conferences in the home economics department at the Coker & Taylor store at 209 South Brand boulevard. All Glendaleans interested in the art of cooking are invited to these conferences and thirty responded to the invitation to the meeting on Monday.

This afternoon Mrs. H. S. Border, culinary artist and chef, is giving a demonstration of making Sunshine cake and conducting a round table on favorite recipes and cooking difficulties.

Make Bread

A demonstration of making bread is to be given at the conference Friday and after this there will be a discussion hour. The meetings are held at 1:30 o'clock.

O. J. Merrill, head of the stove department of the store, has arranged the activities of the home economics department and is now planning an interesting trial of a stove equipped with a Lorain heater.

together with the warp and filling threads equally balanced. Very little sizing is used on good quality of sheeting, so make sure that the sheeting you buy is not full of sizing. Unbleached sheeting will give better wear than the bleached because fewer chemicals are used in finishing it. As it will become white in time, after many washings and a few nights on the line (for night air bleaches) it is equally as desirable as the white.

Long Cloth—This is a soft, firm fabric with a close weave made of a fine grade of cotton yarn of medium twist. The material, when good, is dull in finish and has a rather fuzzy surface, making it undesirable for outer garments, but splendid for undergarments. It will also be found durable and satisfactory for aprons.

I have mentioned at length the above named cotton fabrics because they are the varieties which are most confusing to buy. But one should have no trouble in securing a good grade of the following: Cambric, nainsook, batiste, percale, calico, gingham, flannel, cotton flannel, albatross, Bedford cord, buckram, canvas, cheesecloth, crepe, crinoline, dimity, drill, duck, gauze, khaki, lawn, linen, mull, muslin, organdie, percale, pique, poplin, sateen, silesia, tartan.

REGRIND CYLINDERS

An appliance made of honing stones has been invented that can be attached to any electric drill to regrind automobile cylinders.

HOW TO POWDER

It seems foolish to talk about "How to powder." But, really, a great many young girls don't know the art of using powder, which is essentially to use a little very fine powder once a day on the body and now and then on the face.

A pure talcum, delicately scented, is a delight to use and is good for the skin. If a little is dusted in the arm pits every morning after the bath, and over the chest and shoulders, it will make you feel much fresher and more attractive to yourself. A little face powder, applied with a washable mud pad rather than the unsanitary, extravagant feather "puff," will take the gloss from the nose and chin and need not be renewed until you wash and dress again at the end of the day, unless your skin takes you into hot, moist air or into dusty streets. In that case, the face will become shiny again, and a compact powder box will be a boon.

When you are dressing for the evening, if you wear a low cut frock, be sure you powder the back of the neck and the shoulders liberally with a very good talcum. There is nothing less pleasant than a pearly tinted complexion in front, that becomes brown and coarse pored in back!

About powders themselves: If you can afford it, a good talcum is most pleasant to use after the bath, especially if you like to sprinkle it liberally over your skin, for it is cooling and soothing. But a very good substitute is fine, white cornstarch, such as is used for cooking, scented with real flower petals or mixed with a little sachet powder. And for the face plain rice powder, unscented or very delicately perfumed, flesh for pale faces of blondes, Rachel for brunettes who are not sallow, Blanche for the too rosy cheeked girl.

Miss V. T. C.—If you have been troubled for years with constipation you will, of course, have red lumps and pimples all over the skin. Any kind of yeast such as is used for baking will help you, or, if you do not like this, one large tablespoonful of white fumed oil used that you desire if you substitute the same quantity of it for the perfumed oil called for in the formula.

Tomorrow—Blackheads

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in due turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

My dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 250 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Will send a personal reply if an envelope, stamped and addressed to you, is enclosed.

Mrs. Fatty:—The condition which you acknowledge by the name you have given yourself, may account for your lame back. Most overweight persons suffer from it. I have found. If it is simple lumbago it may be due to an auto accident, or to overeating, or from some chronic infection in the body, or from a sudden strain. We are to have a paper or two on lumbago very soon.

Of all the atrociously painful afflictions lumbago pretty nearly ranks first. I'll say I've had it. Watch for the eloquence I'll put in that article. It, the lumbago, usually comes suddenly and goes just as suddenly. The first and most important thing to do in simple lumbago is to be thoroughly strapped with wide adhesive tape. This immobilizes the muscles and ligaments—keeps them from unnecessary movement—and gives them a chance to recover.

Reduce your weight. That's important. If you do not get better you should have an X-ray picture taken to see if there is not some cause other than strained ligaments and muscles.

Grateful:—If you will clip the public hairs and rub a solution of equal parts of kerosene and oil—liquid petroleum or any vegetable oil—on the region night and morning for two or three days, this will kill the lice. If this does not get rid of them have your druggist make you a solution made of equal parts of compound spirits of ether and xylol and apply that with a bit of absorbent cotton.

The mercury ointment known as blue ointment is also a good remedy, but it is more apt to set up a little inflammation of the skin.

Mrs. K:—We have an article on pruritis which you may have. B. E.:—You say you cannot reduce on dry toast, plain lettuce and hot water. That's fortunate, for you ought not to reduce on that combination. While reducing it is important to have a diet that will supply all of the elements needed by the system and you would not get them on the diet

Foothill Club Members Guests of Mrs. Oliver

Members of the Foothill club were delightfully entertained last Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mary J. Oliver, 1314 North Central avenue.

In addition to the regular members of the club, who were all there, several guests were present—Mrs. Reed Williams, Mrs. Cunningham, Mrs. D. E. Baxter, Mrs. R. L. Young, all of Casa Verdugo, and Mrs. Gilbert S. Wydell of Los Angeles.

The decorations were spring flowers and ferns. Delicious refreshments were served and after the meeting, which was the club's first session since the holidays, an interesting musical program was given.

The program included two piano numbers by Mrs. Reed Williams and a vocal number by Mrs. Marie Oliver, "Lullaby," from Jocelyn Godard.

Ellen Williams winning first prize and Mrs. William C. Cutler second.

Mellon Defends Issue Of Stock Dividends

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Declaration of a stock dividend does not indicate that the corporation involved has "accumulated gains or profits beyond the reasonable needs of the business," as prohibited by law, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon declared in a letter to the senate.

Replying to a senate resolution sponsored by Senator Brookhart, Republican of Iowa, Mellon announced that the punitive provisions of the revenue act had not been invoked against any of the 328 corporations which the federal trade commission charged with releasing their surpluses through stock dividends in 1922.

Block Move to Admit Near East Immigrants

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Efforts to lower the immigration bars to allow entrance into the United States of thousands of Armenians and other near eastern people driven from their homes by Turks failed when the house committee on immigration voted against reporting the White bill. The bill was defeated in committee by a majority of one vote.

Fix Dancer's Bond at $2500 in Assault Case

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—Walter Emerson, well known dancer, motion picture and stock actor, was held to answer in superior court to charges of assault by his former 16 years old dancing partner, Suzette Tobey, by Police Judge O'Brien. The girl told of her alleged relations with Emerson and read excerpts from a diary she kept while his dancing partner. Emerson's bride of a few weeks sat with him in court. His bond was fixed at $2500 cash.

Will Visit With Friends In Coachella Valley

Mrs. Richardson D. White is leaving today for Coachella valley, where she will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Howe for ten days. The visit had been planned for last week but word was received that Mrs. Howe was ill. She has now recovered.

It will be remembered that Mr. Howe was formerly vice principal of the Glendale Union high school. He is now principal of the Coachella high school.

The housekeeper is the foreman of the home. It is, therefore, her duty to become a good buyer. Most of us know good values in such things as rugs, furniture, china or kitchenware. But when it comes to purchasing materials for dress or upholstery, many of us fail. If you do not know all of the following cotton fabrics by sight, it will be worth your while to stop at a cotton goods counter, next time you go through a dry-goods store, and ask to see them.

Chambray—This is woven in a plain weave with a white self-edge and is used for dresses, men's shirts, little tots' rompers and aprons.

Galatea—A heavy, firm sateen weave with a design printed on one side. Fine for children's clothing and outing suits when a cloth of unusual strength is desired.

Cotton Damask is used for table cloths and doilies, but in buying it the housewife should understand that after a few washings it will have a fuzzy surface, although when bought it has the same appearance as linen damask. When sold, it has a mercerization which soon wears off, as the cotton fibre is short and the ends of the fibres cannot be held in place like the ends of the linen fibres. The result is that the short cotton fibres will not take a good polish with a hot iron.

Velveteen is an imitation of velvet, but is made wholly of cotton.

Sheeting, if good, will have round, firm threads closely packed

The World Over

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The new rules of basketball have been for the betterment of the game, according to those interested. It has made the game faster. Most of the teams are playing a five-man defensive game.

The Olympic club of San Francisco has a team it considers the best it has had since 1915, when it won the National Championship and if it continues its winning gait, the intention is to go after national basketball honors. It not only has a first team but it has a set of resources which it considers quite the equal of its first line men. The makeup of the team is as follows: Forwards, Berndt, Bonney, Lauterwasser, and Loder; centers, Boyle and Hibbett; guards, Jensen, Schweiter, Neolds and Manoli. Berndt is the only man of the outfit who played on the 1911 championship team.

It generally is understood that the University of California again will send a track and field team east to defend its national championship which it won last year. According to reports, the team will not be quite as strong as it was last season, but there is talent enough left over to keep the eastern universities guessing.

Californians generally believe that if the team was not limited there would be no question as to their superiority. Naturally, the men have to be skinned down to the cream and so the eastern institutions have all the best of it. There is every confidence expressed that the cup will remain on the Pacific coast.

To mark a man because he excels in the playing of a game and the systematic endeavor to put him out is a feature of football and basketball which still remains and is a subject on which the calamity howlers have said nothing. One or two writers would have us believe that football is on trial, purely an invention, and yet when it comes to a real issue, such as the one just mentioned, they have nothing to say concerning the matter.

There is no question that the putting out of a good player is systematically practiced, and it can be done without violating the letter of the law although the spirit of it may be shattered into a million pieces. Here is a reform that should be inaugurated and instead of wasting time exploring the passing of football, a game which never was stronger in the affections of the public, those howlers might tackle a question that is a live issue.

The Sport Crucible

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—As unique a character as the administrative side of major league baseball has known is Barney, the plausible, Dreyfus, owner of the Pittsburgh ball club. Other magnates may keep in reasonably close touch with the game and its developments; Barney grabs it in both of his self-starting hands and carries it with him always. To some baseball may be a hobby or a business. To Barney it is both and more—it is his life.

Mention a Class D ball player of the most obscure type—Barney will know him intimately from batting weakness to his choice in neckties. If he doesn't he will go to an index system he keeps in his office, select a card, glance at the hieroglyphics known only to himself and tell you everything pronto.

"Let's see," he will say. "Oh, yes! Gootus—first name, Joe. He was born in Medicine Hat, runs a taxicab in the winter, bats and throws left handed and prefers blondes. That boy will be a ball player some day, if he can overcome a tendency to go after a high fast ball on the inside. Yes, yes. I know him. His father runs a cloak and suit business in Fort Wayne, Ind., and once ran for mayor on the non-partisan ticket, his opponent having a plurality of 40,000. The boy himself has freckles all over his nose."

The card index system is only the halter or check-rein upon a marvelous memory, however. Most of the time Barney's performance is strictly impromptu. At the recent baseball meeting at Louisville Barney was approached by one Bill Jackson, a Three-I League manager, who wished to introduce himself. It wasn't necessary.

"I know you," quoth Mr. Dreyfus. "You played semi-pro baseball around Pittsburgh for some time, and then you knocked around the minors for a while. Then you got a job in the Federal league. You were a left-hand pitcher, but when you were with the Feds you played part of the time at first base."

According to Jackson, these data were accurate from first to last. The really remarkable feature, however, was that Jackson played semi-pro baseball around Pittsburgh a mere matter of twenty years ago. Yet Dreyfus remembered just as you would remember the breakfast order you gave this morning.

Barney does not crave popularity—which is just as well. He doesn't get it. But he does command and receive respect, and, regardless of whether he may spoil ball clubs by too much management of managers, he knows more baseball in a minute than some magnates will know in a lifetime.

KEARNS TO HOLD FIGHT CONFERENCE

Plans to Have Meeting With Tex Rickard to Discuss Plans for Dempsey

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The question as to whether Jack Dempsey, who arrived here yesterday from the west, will do any battling in the immediate future today probably will be made known here when the heavyweight champion's manager, Jack Kearns, arrives. Kearns is expected to hold a conference with Promoter Tex Rickard regarding the possibility of Dempsey meeting some one at Madison Square garden before the winter season closes.

Plan Memorial Stadium To Hawaiian Statesman

HONOLULU, Jan. 24.—Erection of a big athletic stadium as a memorial to the late Prince Jonah Kūhiō Kalanianaʻōle, Hawaiian delegate to congress for twenty years, has been proposed by a commission considering the plans. It is proposed that the commission, the Territorial Legislature and the school department act jointly in building the stadium in Honolulu. Prince Kūhiō formerly was an all around athlete.

GEORGE SISLER TO HAVE UNDERSTUDY

Injury to Shoulder Causes Browns' Management to Secure Substitute

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 24.—In George Sisler, who has been voted the greatest all-round player in the American League, probably will have an understudy this season. It was announced today. It would be the first time since Sisler became a regular first baseman for the Browns in 1918 that a second string first sacker even has been considered, it was said. Consideration of an understudy, it was explained, was given only after it was believed the injury Sisler suffered to his right shoulder last September may cause him some annoyance this season. Sisler expressed confidence that the shoulder would be in perfect condition when the season opens.

Des Moines Is Banner 1922 Convention City

DES MOINES, Iowa, Jan. 24.—Des Moines was one of the banner convention cities of the country during the year 1922, according to figures compiled by the Chamber of Commerce. GIRL HURTS PITCHER'S ARM

Hugh McQuillan, the Giant's $100,000 pitcher, is to sue Miss Mildred Taylor, society girl of New York and Newport, and one of the most popular of the younger set in the inner circles. It is alleged that an auto driven by Miss Taylor collided with one in which McQuillan was riding and that the baseball player was so seriously injured that his pitching days are probably over.

LANDIS TOURING EASTERN STATES

Baseball Dictator Denies He Is Planning to Summon Meet of Magnates

By SID MERCER
For International News Service
NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Judge Kennesaw Mountain Landis arrived here yesterday. He is not here to fight, but is filling gastronomic engagements on the eastern time.

Judge Landis claims to be a man of peace. He declined to be drawn into any strong comment on the rift between the two factions of his baseball family.

"I am merely eating my way formally and informally through the states of Pennsylvania, New York and Connecticut," he said. "There is no pressing baseball business to bring me here—no conference or secret meetings. I have not even called a joint meeting of the National and American leagues for February, as reported. At this time there seems to be no urgent need for it."

Judge Landis will speak tonight at a baseball dinner in Reading, Pa. On Thursday night he will be the principal speaker at an American Legion dinner in Altoona, Pa. On Friday night he will be the guest of the New Haven baseball club at New Haven. Owner George Weiss and the fans of New Haven are banqueting Bill Donovan, who managed the New Haven pennant winners last season. Judge Landis will be the guest of honor.

Other baseball notables from New York will be among the five hundred guests at the dinner.

NUNES PUTS UP SURPRISE BATTLE

Bud Ridley of Oregon Is Outpointed in Contest in Vernon Ring

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 24.—Because he outboxed Bud Ridley of Oregon in four fast rounds at Vernon last night Danny Nunes was the talk of boxing circles today.

Nunes proved himself a light, but faster puncher, and for three consecutive rounds hammered away at Ridley with a true left, outpointing the Oregonian. Only during the clinches did Ridley get in his best work, sailing into Nunes with both fists and trying to make a rough contest of it. Almost continually Nunes sent his left to Ridley's head and face.

The high mark of the bout was reached in the fourth round when Ridley suddenly sent a sizzling right to Nunes' chin that put him down on one knee, but Nunes countered with four crashing rights.

SENDS BACK HIS DIAMOND TROPHY

Walter Hoover Decides Not To Defend Championship at Henley Races

DULUTH, Minn., Jan. 24.—Walter McCall Hoover, holder of the Diamond Sculls, emblematic of the world's amateur single sculls championship, announced today he had decided definitely not to defend his title this summer and he plans to ship the trophy treasure back to England for the Henley races early in July.

Chinese Flappers Are Following U. S. Styles

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Wing Fu's daughter, hiding her blushes behind a fairy fan within the mysterious Forbidden City, may not be doing all those things. In fact, she's not the demure, shy young thing she is painted in story books. Flapperism has flitted over the great walls, and young Miss China has taken to it "instinctively." She may not have quite as much to say about who her beau shall be as the American flapper, but she's getting there.

Take this from the Misses F. Jacob and Rosalyn Rosenbloom, of Chicago, who recently returned from a twenty-two months' trip around the world. The two Chicago girls have this to say about their little sisters of the Orient: "Chinese girls are becoming flappers, with short skirts, rouge, the shy side glance, and most everything else."

"We were very much surprised to find that in the more modern cities of China one finds a great deal of evidence of the influence of the United States. It was particularly noticeable in the dress of the women. In the Orient, at least, America is fast supplanting Paris as the arbiter of women's modes."

Owns 100 Acres Near Big Steel Development

C. D. Burkholder, Glendale property owner, whose temporary residence is at 2206 Casitas avenue, Los Angeles, is vitally interested in the $4,000,000 bond issue of the Columbia Steel corporation, underwritten January 15, through a syndicate of bond dealers headed by Dillon, Read & Co., of New York.

The reason for Mr. Burkholder's personal interest in this deal is the fact that he owns 100 acres of choice land near where the Columbia Steel interests plan their development. The land is in Cedar City, Iron county, Utah.

The first step in the expansion of this big northern concern, with the funds obtained from their big bond issue, will be the erection of coke ovens and blast furnaces for the making of pig iron, on their site between Springville and Provo, Utah.

LONDON, January 24.—The Turks have begun to mobilize at Constantinople, according to semi-official reports received here today.

Miners Back at Work

ESSEX, Jan. 24.—Thousands of striking German miners in the Ruhr returned to work pending the outcome of the trials of Fritz Thyssen and other coal operators at Mayence. They threatened further trouble if the coal magnates were convicted and punished.

All of the Ruhr is more or less isolated from the balance of Germany and some parts of the occupied areas are nearly cut off entirely, owing to interruption of rail and wire communications.

State Forestry Dept. To Beautify Highways

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 24.—State Forester M. B. Pratt announced today that budget requests of the state department of forestry for the ensuing biennium total $160,000.

FLAMES DESTROY PIONEER STUDIO

Fire in Old Griffith Plant Causes Damages Placed At $200,000

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 24.—Fire, starting from an electric heater used for drying films, early today caused $50,000 damage to the building and equipment of the old D. W. Griffith studio in Hollywood and destroyed $150,000 worth of films. The studio, known as the "Fine Arts studio," was leased by 12 independent companies, who were engaged in making productions there. No casualties were reported by the Hollywood fire department.

First reports to the Hollywood police department stated that $50,000 worth of films, which were stored there, were saved. The studio was one of the oldest land marks of the Los Angeles film colony, having been the first studio erected in Hollywood. Many of the first super-productions by D. W. Griffith, starring the Gish sisters, as well as pictures by Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, were made there.

AN INTERESTING LETTER

PERTAINING TO THE CUTLER SELECTED DIRECTORY SERVICE AD-

DRESSED TO

L. G. SCOVERN,

GLENDAL, CALIF.

Mr. L. G. Scovern,

1000 S. Brand Blvd.,

Glendale, Calif.

My Dear Mr. Scovern:

While I was in Glendale, I called on William C. Cutler, 1327

N. Louise St., who has 162

ventions to his credit, all of more or less importance. One, however,

I looked over impressed me as having the greatest possibilities of any invention I have ever investigated, and knowing your desire to make money I am going to give you some idea of the business possibilities of this invention.

It is a most unique and complete Directory and Information

Device supplying a needed want of a free Directory Service that meets unlimited requirements. The Directory is a mechanical device made in an attractive mahogany cabinet that has a projecting desk upon which is a dial. The Classifications of the names listed in the Directory are numbered and by turning the hand on the dial to the selected number that corresponds to the classification number selected and depressing the foot lever or pedal, there slides into view the information that the person seeks. The information sheet is protected by a glass thereby saving the sheets from being handled and soiled by human contact, and in order that you may know the amount of information contained on the sheets (which are repeated each 90 days) I will say that it takes about 4000 pounds of type for each printing.

It seems to me to be as high grade a Directory Service as possible, and at this time only 8 per cent of the Business and Professional people operating in Southern California can be represented by the Directory Service. Furthermore, there is absolutely no money that can buy a position on this Directory if the investigation does not prove satisfactory to the Company operating the business.

The device is endorsed by everyone who comes in contact with it. The locations where they are installed would not dispense with the Directory, for it is a time saver as well as a Directory and Information assistant of authentic and up-to-the-minute information.

It is the great simplicity of the machine that makes for its "Success." I predict a great future for

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

L. A. Ready to Provide One Way to Get Mr. Thug Providing Mental Tests Help Reach That Million!

—By Gil A. Cowan

WHEN there is no news elsewhere in the state, Los Angeles provides a murder almost weekly and keeps the tempo of having sufficient implicated here, there and everywhere to make it of nation-wide importance.

For instance, in one of the latest sensations, it was San Francisco gunmen accused of the crime. Long since we heard of San Francisco gunmen, and it takes someone outside of Los Angeles to come there to do the killing.

Chicago, Texas, New York, Arizona, Denver—all contribute to the congregation of crooks who assemble in the sunny southland to do their dullest at filling the front pages of papers.

Wonder if it wouldn't be wise to establish a Hangtown district for them and save the police department a lot of running around?

German financiers suggest an American protectorate over the Ruhr section. How comes it that these men look to Uncle Sam for their protection? True, quite a number of former service men have obtained employment as cops, but we do not want a nation of gun toters, the flower of their youth to be spent in the Rhineland.

United States troops should stay in this country as long as we are not at war with any of the European powers. And the faster those who are "over there" get back here, the better the body politic will be satisfied.

As a popular song, "Der Wacht am Rhein" was banned during the war. Let us not hear it sung by the Yanks in peace time.

Every day, in every way, the thieves are getting thicker and thicker.

No need of repeating that sentence, a la Coue, for the situation is bad enough as it is. All over the country come reports of robberies that make a brave man wince in the guilty knowledge that he possesses an finger-soll on a two-bit piece some-thing to take from him.

An epidemic of holdups seems to be sweeping the Pacific coast as well as the country at large, and some stringent methods need be taken to convince these gentry that possession by force means maintenance of ownership by defensive means equal to the occasion.

In Minneapolis some years ago 400 private detectives were employed, I am told, to carry revolvers in sacks and invite attempted highway robbery. And as their hands went up, the gun went off and Mr. Thug lay dead.

After several notorious bandits had been killed the others beat a hasty retreat and citizens were again safe. Similar measures might be taken in other places.

Says the Sacramento Union regarding "Taste in Pictures":

"The public itself must bring about improvement in motion pictures, as has often been said, and reports from the picture concerns seem to indicate that the public is having its say."

Current motion picture publications recorded by some reels of questionable character, and the successes set down opposite the titles of pictures which found their appeal on good, wholesome subjects. The good old stories of real and upright humans are recorded as making the best impressions at the box office, and a picture of big game hunting in Africa, thrilling pictorial record of the interesting battles between jungle beasts and mere man, is said to be the latest sensation.

The public is showing that it will support clean pictures, and the producers are quick to recognize their financial value."

So say we.

While California has a motor vehicle bill before its legislature incorporating mentality tests, it is interesting to read the New York World's comment on the British Cabinet Seeks To Prevent New Friction

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The cabinet acted today to prevent friction between the British and French military authorities in the German Rhineland. The whole Ruhr situation was canvassed, but it is understood that the cabinet will continue its policy of neutrality.

France in replying to a British communication regarding arrests of German officials by French in the British area of military occupation, assured Great Britain that "the French government desires to avoid any embarrassing incident."

Stage Passengers and Driver Bandit Victims

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 24.—Taking charge of a Los Angeles-Culver City automobile stage, three bandits, riding as passengers early today held up the stage driver and two fellow passengers and then drove their victims back to Los Angeles, according to reports to the sheriff's office by R. J. Senet and W. C. Carner. Circumstances surrounding the case led the sheriff's office to believe Senet and Carner are the victims of a clever trio operating under the cover of a stage business.

WIDOW SUCCEEDS HER HUSBAND IN CONGRESS

Mrs. John I. Nolan Wins Over Six Opponents in Race for Vacancy

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—For the first time in history, three women are members of congress today.

The election of Mrs. May Nolan, widow of former Representative John I. Nolan, of California, to succeed her husband, gives the sex the greatest representation it has ever had in congress. The feminine contingent now consists of "Aunt Alice" Robertson of Oklahoma; Mrs. Winifred Mason Huck of Illinois; and Mrs. Nolan of California. All are Republicans.

By ELLIS H. MARTIN
For International News Service

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—A woman has gone President Harding one better. Mrs. May E. Nolan, taking note of the President's successful front porch campaign, has won election to congress from the Fifth District of California by a "front porch" campaign.

Mrs. Nolan succeeds her husband, the late John I. Nolan, one of the outstanding representatives of labor for many years in congress. She is California's first congresswoman. She won over a field of six men, all of whom conducted active campaigns.

She never left her home, never made a speech and had a lead of 2,000 over her nearest male competitor. Essentially a "home" woman, Mrs. Nolan consented to run for the office held by her husband in order that she might carry out the progressive and humanitarian program of legislation on which his heart was centered. Because of his recent death, she did not regard it as fitting that she should make a speaking campaign. But the women of her district, comprising half of San Francisco and the large labor district, came to her. In delegations of from a score to a half hundred they visited her front porch. Politics did not enter largely into their discussions. But they sized up the candidate and then went to the polls and carried the word to their husbands and sweethearts that Mrs. Nolan was "the candidate."

Light Wines and Beer

The new congresswoman from California is "wet." "I favor modification of the Volstead act," she told International News Service, as she received congratulations at her home today. "While, strictly speaking, the 'wet-dry' question is not now an issue, my husband favored liberalization of the provisions of the dry act looking to a return of light wines and beers and any measures having this object will have my support."

Mrs. Nolan will be an out-and-out representative of labor in congress, as was her husband.

"My only reason for running was my desire to see my husband's work carried on in congress in the way he would have done it himself," she explained between hugs and kisses from her seven-year-old, golden-haired daughter, Corliss, who was one of the first to congratulate her mother.

Starts Work at Once

"The laws he planned and worked for, will have my wholehearted attention. Chief among them are:

"The measure for abolition of child labor, which he introduced;

"A minimum wage of $3 for government employees;

"The soldier bonus;

"Limitation of immigration, and

"A pension bill for postal and other government employees."

Mrs. Nolan plans to leave for Washington within the next week and as she was elected both to serve the unexpired term of her husband and also for the ensuing term, she will take her seat at once. Asked what her first speech would deal with, she replied:

"I'll have to give that considerable thought—you know John has always been spokesman for this family."

Little Corliss, who already is a familiar figure on the floor of congress where she often accompanied her father and who is a special pet of "Uncle" Joe Cannon, will stand by her mother's side when she takes the oath.

THE immediate paving of Glendale avenue was approved yesterday noon at the Broadway Inn by the Glendale Advancement Association. The necessity for this improvement was called to the attention of the association by Charles F. Stuart of 638 East Broadway, member of the committee which took up this project a number of months ago but dropped it pending the establishment of street car service on South Glendale avenue.

According to Mr. Stuart, taxpayers representing about 5,000 feet of frontage on South Glendale avenue already have signed a petition to have the street repaved. He estimates that there are about 7,500 front feet on each side of the street between Broadway and Forest avenue, or a total frontage of about 15,000 feet. On account of the condition of this thoroughfare, Mr. Stuart expressed an opinion that the City Council would regard the improvement with favor, even if a majority of interested property owners refused to sign the petition.

After some discussion as to whether or not it might be an opportune time to promote the improvement, the association decided to do so.

Heads Committee

Mr. Stuart was appointed chairman of a new committee to begin active work at once upon the project. Other appointees to this committee were W. E. Mercer, J. P. Chandler, H. L. Finlay, J. K. Todd and A. Sapir.

For his work in fostering the widening and improvement of Forest avenue between Glendale avenue and Brand boulevard Mr. Stuart was thanked publicly by President C. W. Ingledue.

"Everything there has been lauded to the queen's taste," remarked Mr. Stuart in making his report. "I think everything is satisfactory to all parties."

City Manager W. H. Reeves was commended for his attitude toward this improvement. He was given a vote of thanks.

Makes Appeal

"Mr. Reeves has always been ready to do whatever he can for this end of town," remarked Mr. Stuart.

M. Walters, member of the realty firm of Francis-Barnum-Walters, promoters of Sparr Heights, made an appeal to the association not to let the lack of a paltry $350 needed to complete the $25,000 bonus interfere with the electrification of the Union Pacific railroad on South Glendale avenue. He characterized property owners who had refused to contribute their share to this bonus as "extremely short sighted."

Community Service's complimentary banquet for those contributing $25 to its budget for this year was the subject of a brief discussion. C. F. Stuart was selected as the official representative of the Glendale Advancement association.

CLAIMS SUPPORT FOR RE-DIVISION

Reapportionment Certain at Present Session, Says Senator Johnson

By GIL A. COWAN
Special to The Evening News

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 24.—Senator A. Burlingame Johnson, representing Pasadena and Glendale districts in the upper house of the California legislature, today has solons and the "third house" guessing as to just what he means by assuring everyone reapportionment this session is practically a certainty, qualifying his statements only by the statement that reapportionment is bound to occur.

The benign smile and cryptic statement as yet remain unfathomed, although it is certain that San Francisco members of both the assembly and house are more than worried and the lobbies are beginning to get excited over a subject which the political editors had held a post mortem and declared dead.

"It is all wrong to think that the constitution or the will of the people—and southern California has the people in matter of population and registered voters—can be overridden by San Francisco's desire to control this state through the bay district vote," according to Senator Johnson.

Bay City in Line

"It is my belief that San Francisco will gladly vote with southern California on a suitable measure by which they will not lose all and Los Angeles county will get the better part of that to which it is entitled."

Then it depends on what Senator Johnson from Pasadena does. It is known that he holds the "ace card." Also Los Angeles holds the royal flush. It is admitted that anything the south goes after it gets.

Reapportionment is an ironclad certainty, according to those who are in on the senator's secret.

PROTEST INVASION

MADRID, Jan. 24.—Spanish labor unions today sent a protest to Premier Poincare against French occupation of the Ruhr by French troops. They have asked the Spanish premier to intervene.

EVIDENCE LINKS UP KLANSMEN WITH MOB MURDERS

State's Surprise Witness Saw Hooded Slayers Carry Bodies to Lake

BASTROP, Jan. 24.—The great knotted noose of the hangman today swung toward the hooded necks of the "black masks" of Morehouse parish who carried Watt Daniel and Thomas F. Richards off to a modern crucifixion on that fateful August night five months ago to a day.

The "missing link" was furnished by the itinerant autoist, once called the "travelling man," who saw the "black masks" with blood stained hands carry the bodies of Daniel and Richards to Lake La Fourche, where they were tossed to a slimy, watery grave. The autoist was found by the International News Service and brought to court by department of justice agents. He was termed by Assistant Attorney General Alvipo, the states "smashing surprise witness." His name is L. L. Jones of Mosselle, Miss.

By his testimony the state hopes to convict the "black masks" as murderers, for it carries the "hooded band" to the edge of Lake La Fourche with the bodies of Daniel and Richards and takes them away empty-handed.
